Is it possible to live the teachings of Jesus that we read and hear in today's Gospel? Jesus really went for it with his Sermon on the Plain—love the people who are hardest to love, pray for people you don't like, give things away, don't ask for them back, let people take things, don't ask for them back, let people strike you, don't strike back, don't judge, don't condemn, be kind, forgive, and .. do it all without expecting anything in return.

For every disciple who hears and acts on Jesus' words, for every person who pours themselves out, for every believer who refuses to judge, hate, condemn, or "get even," there is someone who is on the receiving end of that action, that outpouring, that self-control, that self-gift. The message of receiving is as radical as the message of giving.

Jesus understood that the human heart can seem complex, but it really isn't. Deep down it wants to give—to give to the point that it lets go, trusts, surrenders, depends on something greater than itself. Jesus does not ask us to do difficult things because he wants us to hurt or feel empty. It's because he wants more for us. The human heart was made to give. And the human heart was made to receive. This reality may sometimes wound us even more than the giving. But it is a biblical reality. It is a sacred reality. But there is so much resistance—within ourselves and within our communities—we feel that we should be independent, we shouldn't "be a bother," we shouldn't be burned out or broke or sinners. We try to keep track of the good that has been given to us; we want to repay the giver, even when what they give us is immaterial—like acceptance, forgiveness, encouragement, compassion, love, or time. But the preaching heart of Jesus tells us that we need not strive to even the playing field, to set the score back to zero. In fact, he says we shouldn't.

Let God do the repaying, Jesus urges us. It's really better for the human heart that way. By Amy Ekeh

Time with Jesus is a collection of short five-minute meditations that take children (and adults) on a journey through 13 popular New Testament bible stories to meet Jesus and speak with Him.

Meditations are brought to life by the use of different voices, sound effects and music, making this an exciting and engaging prayer resource for families & teachers, helping children grow in their relationship with Jesus.

Have you considered supporting the parish through pre-authorized giving?

This allows you to give to the parish through scheduled monthly transfers from your bank account, and helps ensure regular, dependable contributions to the parish. Security Most of all, though, pre-authorized giving affords us the opportunity to reorient how we think about giving. Rather than giving from what's left over, this method of giving encourages us to discern a level of Parish support with greater intention. In this way, we respond more fully to the call to "honour the Lord with your wealth, with the first fruits of all your produce." (Proverbs 3, 9-10) For more info. or to enrol, please contact the parish office.

St. Jude
Prayer for Fathers

Loving God, giver of all good gifts, you show us your love in the gift of our fathers. Bless them with your spirit of wisdom, and give them the grace to set a loving example for us through their faith. St. Jude, you too led a life of selfless service and fruitful love. Guide our fathers through your intercession. Give them strong conviction, renewed hope, and perfect charity; so they may teach with authority, comfort us when we falter, and anchor our families in your love. Amen.
