Gospel Luke 13:22-30: As this parable opens, Luke reminds us that Jesus is making his way to Jerusalem. As Jesus goes he is teaching and a question from the crowd gives Jesus the chance to make a prophetic statement. "Will only a few be saved" Jesus uses typical Christian language about salvation but also expresses the Jewish concern about whether everyone who calls himself a Jew is actually faithful to the covenant. Jesus answers that they must strive in the time remaining to enter through the narrow door because many will be trying to get in but won't be strong enough. He then moves to a parable about another door. Once all those entering the master's house are in and he locks the door, there will be no way for others to get in. Those left outside may knock, but the master will say he doesn't know them. A few weeks ago Jesus was teaching about prayer, and we were told to knock and the door would be opened, but in this parable, the master will not open and say's he does not know us. People from the north, south, east, and west will take our place inside. Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and all the prophets will take our place in the Kingdom of God. Those who do not make it through the narrow door will be cast out to where there is wailing and grinding of teeth. The image of the door is replaced in the final verses of the parable with the image of the heavenly banquet. God brings Israel's descendents back from the east and west and north and south and speaks of providing a feast of rich foods and choice wines for all peoples on his holy mountain. The answer to the question "Will only a few be saved" is no. In the end, many will be saved, but many who thought they would be saved will not be saved. The parable is a prophetic warning to repentance in order to enter the kingdom. LoyolaPress.com

St. Augustine of Hippo, bishop, Doctor of the Church
You have forgiven me my past sins and drawn a veil over them, and in this way You have given me happiness in yourself, changing my life by faith and Your sacrament. When others read of those past sins of mine their hearts are stirred so that they no longer lie listless. Instead their hearts are roused by the love of Your mercy and the joy of Your Grace.
Pray for the conversion of Sinners.
